

Why bad happens to good and good happens to bad?

Activity:

Please go through the below instance and state whether the conclusion drawn is 'True' or 'False'.

Group 3:

Mango season has just begun! Your favorite, 'King of Fruits' is all over the market! But unfortunate that you are, the prices are still skyrocketing! Unfazed, you use all your smartness and go to the market, and buy the best mango from the lot! You rush to your backyard, dig up a hole and place the mango seed, water it well and cover up the mud and again water the place. After continuous watering for 12 hours, next morning you rush back to the backyard and behold the fully grown mango tree, laden with sweet ripened mangoes! Gladly picking up the best ones from the trees, you relish the mangoes, free of cost!

Group Discussion: Nominate a member from your group to state whether above account is 'True' or 'False' and justify your answer.